

Next Meeting: April 3th, 6:45

Nan Hass Feldman will demonstrate how she takes her sketch and begins to transform it into a colorful, textured, unpredictable subjective artwork. She will begin with a charcoal line sketch, then accent the lines with Caran d'ache wax crayons to define the composition. Then, I will choose various oil pastels to partially fill in the composition, leaving spaces for the last layer, watercolors, to fill in all the rest of the spaces and also create an unusual texture. Meeting room is handicap accessible.

On Tuesday mornings from 9 to 11:30, Elaine and Liz get together to paint at the Shrewsbury Senior Center. They would like to invite other members of the art guild to

Spirit of Shrewsbury - We have the tent, we need the volunteers.

On September 23rd, AGS has applied for space to set up a tent at the Spirit of Shrewsbury Fair in order to be more involved with the community. We are planning to hand out brochures about the guild, perhaps do an interactive activity as well as have artists to set up their materials and show off their creativity. We also need folks to help with the tent. All ideas for activities much appreciated.

People who have exhibits currently, or in the near future:

- Elly Beatty and Sid Soloman have paintings in the Silk Road Art Guild art show currently on display for the month of March at the Shrewsbury Library
